By Bunka Fashion College

The first five Garment Design Textbooks in the Bunka Fashion Series have been published in English, and are designed to help the student acquire garment-making skills and a general knowledge regarding clothing, as well as develop the student's creativity and sense of aesthetics. Volume 4, Jackets & Vests, is designed for beginners and looks at the history of these two garments, and also provides information related to garment names and designs. It explains the pattern drafting theory that forms the basis of pattern making, pattern manipulation techniques to alter patterns according to different body shapes, as well as sewing methods for individual parts and production of the actual garment. This book makes ample use of diagrams to ensure that all processes from pattern making that incorporate industrial techniques, basting, pattern checking, and sewing processes, are clear and easy to understand. The English textbooks are exact translations of their Japanese counterparts and were designed to be easy to use by Bunka Gakuen students wanting to go beyond Japan's shores, as well as to act as a bridge between Bunka Gakuen and students studying fashion elsewhere in the world.
